

CADDO RIVER ART GUILD NEWSLETTER

1st Quarter 2015 – published 2/2/2015

UPCOMING EVENTS

Date: Old Fashioned Quilting Bee

Where: Arkadelphia Arts Center

When: Wednesday, February 11, 2015

Time: 9am-5pm; all day, part day, drop in, drop out, etc.

A social event of fun and enjoyment, the quilt has been "put in" ready to be quilted. All equipment is furnished. Bring your lunch or order in or step out for lunch. We will have drinks in the fridge.

Please do not be concerned if you have never quilted. Teaching is free and lesson is simple. Just come and enjoy. Contact Farrell Ford for questions.

Printmaking without a press

Location: Arkadelphia Arts Center

Date: Saturday, March 7, 2015

Time: 9:00 am to 12:00 noon

Cost: $50

Instructor: Delita Martin

This workshop introduces participants to the technique of gelatin plate mono type printing. Participants will be introduced to three basic printing techniques: stenciling, direct painting, and offset printing. These techniques will allow participants to create prints that resemble several traditional printmaking processes. We will use these techniques in combination to create prints rich in layers and texture. Participants will be encouraged to experiment with mark making tools and masking stencils to become familiar with the amazing qualities of the gelatin plate.

All supplies are furnished and you will produce 3 original prints to take home.

Call Rita at 870-245-3612 to sign up!!

ARKADELPHIA ART CENTER EXHIBITIONS

We have 2 shows in February that encompass the Art Center's 2015 Black History celebration.

"Visions Of Our Fore-Mothers"

January 28 - February 14

This exhibit serves as a lead in for the Delita Martin exhibit. We have filled four rooms with artifacts and costumes related to the subjects included in the Martin portraits. We also have a quilting area with a quilt top "put in" ready for quilting. This is hung from the ceiling in a set of early 1900 quilting frames. We also have Peg Duncan's Vintage Apron collection display, a must see.

"Beyond Layers"

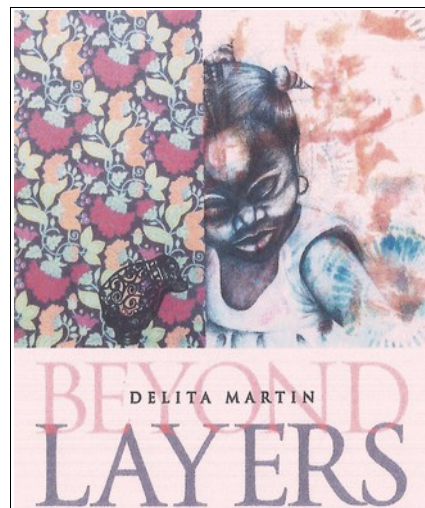

by multimedia artist Delita Martin

February 18 - March 28

Reception February 26th from 4:30 to 6:00 pm.

Delita Martin will speak at 5:15 pm

Portraits exploring the role of Black women within community and family structures. Delita Martin is an artist currently based in Little Rock. She has exhibited both nationally and internationally, and most recently at Crystal Bridges Museum of American Art.
